"Probers Are Patriots," Says Senator New—Liberty Motor in Use.

(International News Service.)
Washington, July 15.—"No greater service has been rendered the country by anybody during this war than by those persons responsible a little more than a month ago for the aircraft disclosures," said Senator Harry S. New, of Indiana, today. "Due to those disclosures, we are now getting ready, and are really getting on a quantity production basis," he added.

E. H. Morin Grows Too Vehement and Is Arrested

Impudent talk of E. H. Morin to Mrs. Rachel Marshall, police matron, late Saturday afternoon fell upon the ears of Motorcycle Patrolman Hyatt and that officer promptly placed Morin under arrest. The impudence received recognition on the police blotter in the form of a charge of disorderly conduct. Morin's wrath was loosened on the police matron after she had informed him that she believed his wife, who had been brought to her office early in the afternoon by provost guards, was a good woman and she meant to stand by her. He is understood to have been responsible for the appearance of his wife at Mrs. Marshall's office. According to information obtained Monday morning, Morin himself met the fate he had endeavored to have his wife meet. As a result, he was fined $50 and costs at a private hearing on Monday morning and placed under a bond of $2,000, pending a further investigation. Prominent people and church workers appeared and testified in Mrs. Morin's behalf. She was said to be an excellent woman, possessing a splendid Christian character.

It was brought out that Morin, under the name of H. E. Martin, served a year in an eastern penitentiary in Pennsylvania on a larceny charge. A horse and buggy were involved. He appeared before a pardon board in his own behalf and was successful in being paroled. Later, according to a newspaper clipping, he was pardoned. The information is that he met Mrs. Morin in Canada. For several years she was matron of a girls' home there, and during this period saved $1,000, which she placed in a bank. Following their engagement, under the pretext of coming here and fitting up a home, he is said to have borrowed $500 from her. When she reached Chattanooga they were married in a local church and spent their honeymoon at Signal Mountain. None of this money, it is contended, has been paid back. Following her appearance at Mrs. Marshall's office, Mrs. Morin was released.

BORK'S NAME ORDERED PLACED ON BALLOT

Popular Squire Gets on as Representative of City of Chattanooga.

The Hamilton county election commission, composed of Theo King, J. R. F. Lowry and McKinley Hays, met Monday afternoon at 5 o'clock and ordered the name of Squire J. J. Bork placed on the official ballot as justice of the peace from the city of Chattanooga. This action was taken as the result of the certifying of the name of Squire Lawrence, Dobbs and Frank Wells, who were nominated at the past democratic primary. Squire Bork is being placed on the ticket at the fourth representative from the First district, his insistence being that the city of Chattanooga is as a municipality entitled to representation, which makes the entire First district entitled to four members of the court.

The commission also went over and checked up the supplemental registration for the county which has just been completed and which is the largest in the history of elections in this county. The commission further named officers for the coming election Aug. 1.

The bond was arranged by Attorney Carl Abernathy, who is looking after the interests of the officer. Bail amounted to $300 in both charges.

She admitted that she lived with him. She explained that later she married a man who is now trying to secure a divorce. She said she would stay in jail a year before she would see any harm come to her cousin.

It is understood that Velva came here from Pennsylvania.

Upper—Girl member of canning club with tray of packed cans ready to be set in their home-made bath. Lower—Girl expert canner showing how to use common wash boiler as water bath by providing a false bottom and clean cloth cover to hold top tight.

(By Biddy Bye.)
The one-period cold-pack method of canning is the only process now recommended by the government experts and state food commissions. Many of the older housewives avoid it simply because they are unfamiliar with it. Nevertheless it is so simple that a child can use it successfully. In fact, thousands of girls belonging to canning clubs conserved tons of fruits and vegetables by this process last year, and many more are doing the work with enthusiasm this summer. It is easy to follow the steps of the process. The material is cleaned, trimmed and otherwise prepared, then it is blanched or scalded and cold-dipped, packed into cans, which are partially sealed, and then

STRESSES IDEALISTIC MOTIVES OF AMERICA

(Associated Press.)
Amsterdam, July 15.—Maximilian Harden, in an article in Zukunft, refers to the significance of President Wilson's speech at Mount Vernon and the common celebration in Great Britain and in America of independence day.

Frankly admitting the truth of the contention that America desires no territory, that her intervention means no material gain for her, he is bound to be extremely costly for her. Herr Harden seeks to impress upon his readers the truth that America entered the war from idealistic motives. To these motives, he says, many Germans are blind and, accordingly, most Germans deny them.

No Matter Who Was President.
Harden recognizes the reality of danger to America from a victorious Germany and says America's decision was bound to fall where it did fall whether the president's name was Hughes, Taft, Roosevelt or Wilson. Harden attacks Admiral Von Tirpitz and Dr. Von Kuhlmann as carriers of the ancient Prussian tradition of King Frederick, whom the writer quotes as saying:

"Who gave one man the right to lay the foundation of fresh power on human misery and destruction? Conquered lands do not make the dream of a conqueror richer nor his people happier, and a ruler who imagines he can increase his own happiness thereby is in grave error." 1740. Harden continues, King Frederick prepared and executed the invasion of Silesia. This sort of morality, Harden concludes, still inspires the rulers of Germany today.

CRITTENTON HOME TO BE REBUILT AT ONCE

Much Turmoil as Girls' Home Burns—Fire of Incendiary Origin.

The Florence Crittenton home for women burned Sunday afternoon from a fire of incendiary origin. Three inmates of the home were suspected of arson committed to facilitate their escape. Thanks to the provost guard, however, all the women in the home were corralled and are now confined in another of the home buildings for safe keeping. The loss by fire is estimated at $3,000. Five girls who faintly were carried to Erlanger hospital.

According to the story of some of the women in Erlanger, three women, Alice Odear, Minnie Mullin and another woman plotted to burn the home. They accordingly soaked rags in oil and set fire to it in the attic. A few minutes later an inmate named Mattie Geese, who roomed under the attic, saw fire falling through her ceiling. She gave the alarm and fled.

The fire company arrived at the place within three minutes after the alarm was turned in. Hose to the length of 3,000 feet had to be laid before water could be turned on the fire. In the meantime a chemical engine took up the work.

A scene of the greatest confusion met the firemen. The imprisoned women and their children were wildly rushing about, and five of the girls fainted. A number of the inmates have babies, which added their plaintive wailings to the confusion. A great crowd gathered as the big frame house burst into flames and was burned to ashes.

Two other buildings of the Crittenton home escaped by a narrow margin. A corner of the "babies' building" ignited, but it was extinguished.

Little insurance was carried on the building, but the Crittenton home is just in receipt of a generous donation of $15,000. Five thousand of this comes from the county, $5,000 from the county and $5,000 from the Rotary club. As the loss is only $3,000, the destroyed building will be replaced.

Mrs. Joe Brown, president, and Mrs. Theo King, treasurer of the association, were looking over the ruins Monday afternoon and formulating plans for its re-establishment.

The burning of the Crittenton home was the eighth fire that occurred Sunday. All this week the fire department has been kept at work with numerous fires. When asked the reason for this sudden increase in blazes, the firemen explained it was the recent cool snap, which caused Chattanoogaans to build fires during the day. As the fires have not been repaired for autumn, and as the roofs are dry, a tinder from lack of rain, it was a natural consequence that the increase resulted.

Fathers-in-Law Prove Undoing of This Man

There is a man in jail named Joe Wright who two women are claiming. The case was called in the criminal court Monday and continued until the next term. The defendant is charged with first marrying Miss Mattie Wechel, at Canton, Ga., and later leaving her and moving to Chattanooga. The next step from the matrimonial platform was at Ridgeville, where he met Miss Mamie Johnson. The fathers of the women seem to have been the undoing of the faithless husband, as one of them inadvertently proclaimed to the other the name of his son-in-law. The other spoke up and said, "That's my son-in-law's name." An investigation proved that both fathers had the same son-in-law.

Wright was arrested and at the next term of court will be asked the why and wherefore of such conduct. Neither of the women want her husband, but each wants to see justice done.

BOTH POLICE AND THIEF PROVE POOR PISTOL SHOTS

Patrolman Carver, of the local police department, had a taste of genuine excitement early Sunday morning. He accosted a man, who was trying to effect an entrance through a rear door of W. C. Duffey's place of business at 426 Market street, and the man, evidently not being pleased with the appearance of a blue-coated officer, promptly opened fire. The bullet missed connection, and Carver shot twice at the intruder, but did not hit him. The man ran down Fifth street and made his escape. The matter was reported to the sergeant's office at headquarters.

RURAL SCHOOLS NOT TO OPEN UNTIL AUG. 2

The opening of the rural grammar schools of Hamilton county, that was to have taken place on July 15, has been postponed until Aug. 2. This change was made because of the fact that the crops have not been gathered in the surrounding country and the school children are needed to assist in this work. Although wordless, he gives orders in a lusty voice and it has developed that he has the rank of "captain" already and is making rapid strides to the title of "generalissimo." At present the entire Hancock family is standing at "attention." Both mother and child are doing well.

Walter Wanderwel Heads a Bunch of Boy Scouts on Hike Through South.

Pole, arrived in Chattanooga Sunday. Walter Wanderwel, whom it will be remembered was held for five months in the federal prison at Atlanta suspected of being a German spy, has proven to the entire satisfaction of the authorities that he is a loyal American at heart although he has only taken out his first naturalization papers, and is now scoutmaster of Troop 31 of the Boy Scouts of America. Wanderwel is now conducting a tour in the interest of war savings with four patrol leaders of Troop 31—Howard Groves, Ray McDaniel, Ira McDavid and Hubert Lee. Starting at Atlanta, where a successful campaign was made and about $100 raised, they made their way on foot to this city, where a talk
